

MUSIC PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS' OPINIONS ABOUT INSTRUCTIONAL TECHNOLOGIES AND MATERIAL DESIGN COURSE

Doç. Dr. Deniz Beste Çevik Kılıç
Balıkesir Üniversitesi
Necatibey Eğitim Fakültesi
Güzel Sanatlar Eğitimi Bölümü
Müzik Eğitimi Anabilim Dalı
beste@balikesir.edu.tr

Abstract

Rapid technological developments and changes affecting the lives of individuals. Today, increasing technological development, the need for training associated with the technology reveals. During training, it is important to be persistent in the information learned in the training materials. The importance of Instructional Technology and Material Design course in teacher education programs is increasing, therefore. This study aims to determine the music teacher candidates Instructional Technology and Material Design views on the course. The study music teacher Instructional Technology and Material Design of candidates bears the qualifying conditions for the extraction of views on the course. This research has utilized qualitative research methods. In the study, qualitative data collection techniques were used semi-structured interview technique. Data collection tool used in the study was developed by the researchers. Data collection tool, the content and validity of the questions in the survey is the purpose of research/expert is determined based on whether sight. Then, giving final shape to the survey on the opinions of experts has put forward recommendations based on the results of the research.

Keywords: Music teacher candidates, instructional technology, material design, instructional technology and material design course.