

RELATION OF BASIC LANGUAGE SKILLS TO ONE ANOTHER AND THE IMPORTANCE OF ACTUAL LIFE SKILLS AND DEVELOPMENT OF INDIVIDUAL'S UNIVERSE

Prof. Dr. Ali Göçer
Erciyes Üniversitesi Eđitim Fakóltesi
gocerali@gmail.com

Abstract

Language is the most effective means of communication and interaction among people and is the most way expressing and sharing tool of thinking, imagination, life-related designs visible and more importantly, feelings, thoughts, dreams, wishes and experiences. This study is a review study based on literature review, tried to establish a theoretical framework by scanning from different sources about the relationship between basic language skills and the basic information that reveals the importance of the formation of the universe of the individual, the development, the success of education and the acquisition of real life skills. Thus, tried to be put forward by focusing on the relation of basic language skills to each other, the development of the individual's universe of meaning and, consequently, how it affects the success of life. The performance of the students in Turkish lessons directly affects their success level in the other lessons and therefore their success in education. However, they are influencing their social development situations, future real life and even their professional performance. From this point of view is necessary to ensure that basic language skills that make sense in the field of comprehension and speaking skills come to the students and that these skills are interactively used to complement each other.

Keywords: Turkish teaching, the relation of language skills, meaning universe, real life skills.