

STUDIO OBSERVATIONS IN PROCESS OF ARCHITECTURAL EDUCATION

Arş. Gör. Elif Merve Yılmaz
Selçuk Üniversitesi
elifmerveyilmaz91@hotmail.com

Doç. Dr. Mine Ulusoy
Selçuk Üniversitesi
mulusoy@selcuk.edu.tr

Abstract

Architectural education is a educational process which dominantly comprises applied lessons. It is executed by two methods that name vertical and horizontal method. Vertical studio method is group of students studio including different periods. Horizontal studio method is group of students studio including the same period. In Selçuk University, Department of Architecture horizontal studio method is applied. In this article, a studio lessons process and results are evaluated. In 2015-2016 spring educational season, six students projects are examined. Studio 7 lesson including students of last class. They studied “sport and entertainment center” project. It is emphasised that in big-scale buildings plan resolution and mechanism of building are important. In such a Project, design methods of students are analysed.

Keywords: Architectural education, studio in architecture, studio lessons.